

JAMES ANTHONY

Government-process
design, dynamics, and control

A good party declaration, party constitution, and party laws will let the party's grassroots select constitutionalists.

"As insightfully thoughtful and thought-provoking as it is ultimately hopeful and inspiring." — Midwest Book Review

"Perhaps it is not too late to turn the ship of state around." — Robert W. McGee

- Chemical engineer with masters in mechanical engineering.
- Author in The Hill, Western Journal, Mises Institute, American Thinker, Blaze Media, Daily Caller, The Federalist, Foundation for Economic Education, American Greatness, Lew Rockwell, Free the People, Lincoln Memorial University Law Review, and Chemical Engineering Progress.
- Publisher of rConstitution.us.

A good party's representatives will:

- Use their offsetting powers to limit others in government.
- Prevent crises, helping stop the party from breaking bad.
- Make every law keep powers separated and bounded.
- Let people work together freely to add far-more value.
